

Dave Lewis
888-444-9972 x1006
dlewis@trackmymail.com

Lana Torres
301-299-4064
lane@thedesignchannel.com

MARLENE RYAN JOINS TRACKMYMAIL.COM AS SALES MANAGER

Ryan to Further Build Strong Services for Existing Customers and Generate New Business

Gaithersburg, MD, March 26, 2007 - Trackmymail.com, the nation's leading mail tracking service, announced today that it has named Marlene Ryan as its new sales manager.

Ms. Ryan's role as Sales Manger will be to further build strong services for existing customers, provide consultative selling, manage customer accounts, and bring in new business. Her 30 years of experience with the Postal Service will be extremely helpful as the company continues to grow.

At the Postal Service, she served in a variety of positions including field sales management, sales training, mail acceptance and many others. Most importantly, she was responsible for managing the Confirm program from 2004 to 2006. The Confirm program is what trackmymail.com uses to provide tracking services. Ms. Ryan received a BS in teaching from Illinois State University in Normal, Ill and an MBA in 2005. She is a member of TAWPI and MFSA.

"I am very excited about joining a company that is so well-respected in the industry," said Ms. Ryan. "There is a real need for expertise around the new Intelligent Mail Barcode technology in the industry right now and the team I have joined is uniquely capable of providing that guidance to current customers and those that have never tracked their mail. I look forward to working with postal customers and resellers alike to make tracking their mail as easy as dialing our number."

"Everyone at Trackmymail.com is pleased to add Marlene to our sales team. Our plan is to continue putting more 'feet on the street', find opportunities, close agreements build revenues, and always serve our customers. We are looking forward to the immediate contributions that Marlene will make to our operations," said Dave Lewis, director of Trackmymail.com.

About trackmymail.com

Trackmymail.com, a Pitney Bowes company, is dedicated to providing innovative and user-friendly solutions for tracking mail throughout the postal system using USPS PLANET code technology. Trackmymail.com solutions are entirely Internet-based and provide easy access to tracking results in easy-to-read reports.

Since its launch at the National Postal Forum in March, 2000, trackmymail.com has helped customers track more than more than 50,000 mailings totaling more than 8 billion pieces, and currently provides tracking services for more than 14 million mail pieces a day.

For more information, visit the company's website at www.trackmymail.com.

